Library Update

UNIVERSITY LIBRARIES NEWSLETTER

Winter 2009

Message from the Dean

As we celebrate the New Year and the passage of 2008, I extend my gratitude and appreciation to our alums and supporters who made financial donations. We appreciate your generosity and interest in the University Libraries.

The faculty and staff of the Libraries worked diligently during 2008 to assist new and returning students in meeting their information needs. To be sure 2009 will have many challenges, particularly in these uncertain times.

The Libraries' reputation for being user centered was put to the test during 2008, for more than 18,100 students were on campus and our gate counts, web statistics, and circulation rates underscore the impact this new enrollment milestone has had on our collections, operations and services.

As you peruse this issue of Library Update and learn about our accomplishments and new initiatives, we believe you'll agree that the Libraries are taking steps to reinforce and enhance UA's reputation for being one of the nation's leading research libraries. During the New Year the UA Libraries will continue to be a member in good standing of the Association of Research Libraries. The members of ARL are research libraries distinguished by the breadth and quality of their collections and services. Each ARL member makes distinctive contributions to the aggregation of research resources and services in North America. While UA has been a member of this influential and respected association since 1975, it is an honor we do not take for granted, as we continuously strive to improve our collections, operations, and services. In 2008 our total holdings rose to nearly 2,500,000 and several special collections were acquired. Library personnel were also active in assisting our growing number of students from overseas learn to navigate a US research library. Other members of the libraries' faculty and staff worked hard to insure global resources were within easy reach of students 24/7.

Our success is a tribute to an impressive staff, distinguished by its enthusiasm and commitment to assist our students, and to you—our loyal alums and supporters—whose generosity and interest in the University Libraries enables us to move forward and to make a difference for those who attend Albany. Again, thank you.

Library Webpage Redesign

In January 2009 the University Libraries will launch a major redesign of our home page (<http://library.albany.edu>). To provide enhanced access to our collections and services, the page will have improved navigation, an updated look, and numerous new secondary pages. Links will continue to provide remote and on-site access to databases, journals and more for members of the University community.

Some new features on the front page:

- Ask a Librarian (ask reference librarians questions using IM, text, e-mail and more)
- Easy connection to many Tutorials, Tours and Tips for Research
- Improved access to Databases, Journals, UA Delivery Service and more.

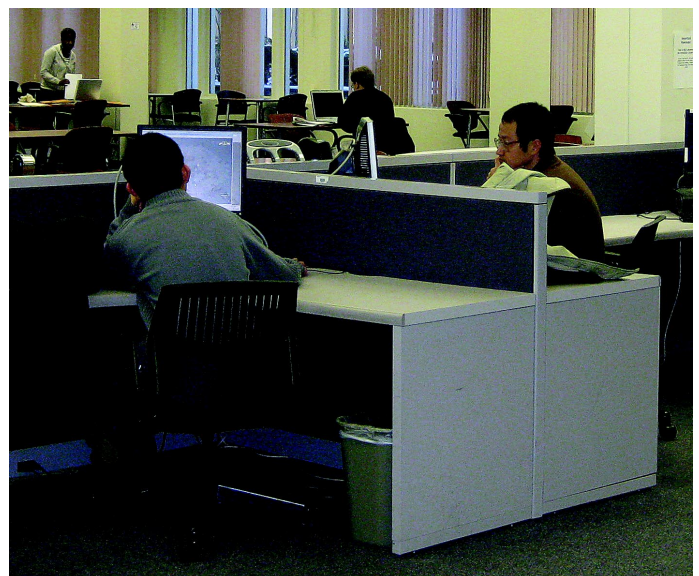

Please let us know what you think. As with all library services, we are committed to better access for our users and are interested in your comments and feedback (<http://library.albany.edu/comments.asp>).

Renovations

Several upgrades are being made to the University Library and these changes will enable us to better address the changing needs of the campus community. Some of the planned renovation work concerns infrastructure, such as improvements to elevators, restrooms, and electrical circuitry, to the creation of new social spaces that are more appropriate for twenty-first century users.

The information needs of college students have changed significantly since the University Library was opened in 1964. For example, many students now bring laptop computers with them, placing high demand on available electrical outlets. Many of today's students work in groups and spaces and furniture that can easily be configured to accommodate team assignments are highly desirable.

Periodic updates on this multi-year, multi-million dollar project will be posted on the Libraries' web page.

Minority Fellows to Intern at UA Libraries

UA joins the University of Arizona, Columbia University, University of Kentucky, National Library of Medicine, North Carolina State University, the University of California San Diego, and the University of Washington in hosting Minority Fellows in 2009. The Association of Research Libraries (ARL) was awarded a $728,821 grant by the Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS) Laura Bush 21st-Century Librarian Program in 2008 to create an ARL Minority Fellowship Program (MFP). ARL is working with member libraries to host 45 master's of library science (MLS) students from underrepresented racial and ethnic groups with fellowships over a three year period. The program provides these ARL Minority Fellows with librarian mentors, academic library experience, opportunities for leadership development, and career placement assistance.

Each fellow admitted to the program is given a 12 week residency assignment at participating libraries. UA is committed to hosting a minimum of two and a maximum of six Fellows.

Sweet Opportunity

Seeking a special way to recognize or honor a family member, friend, or fellow alum; make a memorial tribute; or mark special occasions such as retirements, graduations, birthdays, anniversaries or weddings? The University Libraries have in place a program that allows you to mark your special occasion and give back to UA.

The Libraries Honor with Books initiative places a bookplate in someone's name inside newly purchased books in the arts, business, education, humanities, and social sciences.

A $100 gift provides the placement of one book and bookplate; a $500 gift supports placement of six commemorative bookplates. Under the Honor with Books program, the University Libraries will send a letter of acknowledgment and copy of the bookplate to the honoree, where appropriate, and to the person bestowing the honor.

For more information, please call the Library Administrative Office at 518-442-3568.

Wall of Honor: Located on the second floor of the University Library in the Presidential Reading Room, the Wall of Honor pays tribute to the long line of UA alumni, faculty, staff, and students who served in the armed forces of the United States of America. The colorful display includes maps, photographs, and a list of UA Veterans that goes as far back as the Mexican American War (1846-1848).
